G 14a

The day I found a gorilla one early morning I went to school earlier than I have. When I walked in, There was a huge dog in the middle of the hall.

Before the day was over I had opened it, scared children, and went home.

First I opened it and when I did a 2,000 pound gorilla jumped out. and my friend's mom and I walked up and they screamed and ran off.

Next I took the gorilla down the Kindergarten hall. and it scared them all but one kid. He walked up and tried to pet him but the gorilla pushed him down and he started to cry.

Finally I took him home and put him in a cage with lots of trees. When my mom came home she didn't no I had a gorilla until I told her.

That's my adventure with my 2,000 pound gorilla.

The End!!!

This response reflects proficiency in narrative writing. The writer organizes the response into an introduction, three paragraphs illustrating key ideas, and a conclusion. This structure is not conducive for a narrative response. Although adequately developed, key ideas could be further illustrated. The writer displays adequate facility in the use of language, and very few errors are present in spelling and usage.
